DECATUR MORNING REVIEW

VOL. XI. NO. 233. DECATUR, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 5, 1889. 10 CENTS A WEEK.

STOPPED AT NOTHING.

How a Wicked Adventuress Got a Husband.

BUYING AND BURYING YOUNG BABES.

The Conspiracy by Which Robert Ray Hamilton Was Induced to Marry the Woman Who Recently Attempted His Life—Bigamy Added to Her Crimes—Babies Purchased at $10 Apiece.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The whole story of the way in which Robert Ray Hamilton was duped and plundered by the crafty and murderous adventuress, Mrs. Evangeline Mann, her husband, Joshua Mann, and his mother, Mrs. T. F. Swinton, has been brought to light at last through the efforts of Inspector Byrnes, and in its details it unfolds a conspiracy surpassing in interest the famous Cunningham-Bardell case of thirty years ago. Two of the parties to the plot—Mann and his mother—are at present locked up at the police central office, and the principal in the case is also, as is well known, a prisoner at Mays' Landing, N. J., charged with the attempted murder of the nurse Mary Donnelly at Atlantic City. Mr. Hamilton's eyes have been opened by the discoveries made by the detectives, and now he renounces his former mistress, whom for the last eight months he has acknowledged as his wife, and to free himself forever from a trio of blackmailers he has made up his mind to face the scandal and to let the law take its course. He knows the fact that the woman really a bigamist and he knows also that the child by a man whom she married believe that the girl baby whom she had purchased for $10 was his daughter.

Swore the Woman Was His Wife.

The first step in the investigation by Inspector Byrnes after he had been interested in the case by Hamilton's friends was to send a detective to Buenra to question Dr. Morse. Dr. Morse was the physician who attended Mrs. Hamilton at the alleged birth of little Evan in December last. The physician remembered the woman, but denied that he had ever treated her for anything but colic, and he declared that when under his care she was about to become a mother. Next came word that during the same period Mann and Mrs. Hamilton made a trip to Towanda, Pa., where the adventuress' brother was under arrest for larceny; that at the trial they appeared as witnesses, and that Mann then swore that the woman was his wife. When this information had been obtained Inspector Byrnes decided on Sunday last to arrest Mann and Mrs. Swinton.

The Confession.

The prisoners were kept in separate cells in the basement under the detectives' bureau. After a few hours' close confinement in the dungeon Mrs. Swinton's nerve gave out and she was willing to confess. At the start she declared that the name of Mrs. Hamilton was married to her son and that the baby Robert Ray Hamilton cradled as his daughter was not his child at all. Step by step the entire story of the conspiracy in which she had taken an active part was revealed by her until it was rendered to be done excepting to make it legal by proof what she had said. Prior to Mrs. Hamilton's departure for Elmira Mrs. Swinton said the woman instructed her to procure a fine set of baby clothing saying that she would be back in town again about Dec. 17. She did not return, however, with Joshua until Christmas morning.

The First Baby.

That evening Mrs. Swinton engaged board at 105 East Twenty-eighth street for "Mr. and Mrs. Mann and child." The two remained at the house one week and then went to live in the flat house 208 East Fourteenth street. Mrs. Hamilton sent Mrs. Swinton home with the clothing, saying, "Take and get the baby." The adventuress returned three or four hours later with the child, a girl of 3 or 4 days old, wrapped up in an old green shawl. Several days later the baby became ill and was attended by Dr. Kent, of 207 West Twenty-third street. It died from lack of proper nursing Jan. 4, being then 19 days old, and was buried under the name of Alice Mann by the undertakers, Adler & Aldred, of 720 Fourth avenue. The names of the father and mother were given on the certificate as George and Alice Mann.

Two More Babies Secured.

Before the funeral the adventuress, accompanied by Mrs. Swinton, went to another midwife and purchased another girl baby. She took the second infant to her home in Thirty-first street, and in the course of a day or so it also became ill from the same cause as the first. Dr. Gulliet was called in to attend the little one, and he says the two women begged him to do all in his power to save its life because the child would fall heir to a large property, and that it would be worth at least $100,000 to the mother if it lived. Before this child's remains were placed in the grave the woman had procured another infant. Mr. Hamilton had seen the first child, which had a light complexion, and after a consultation with Mrs. Swinton Mrs. Hamilton concluded the third one could not be palmed off on him because it had dark hair. She also remarked that as it was a "Dutch thing" and she could not kiss it anyway."

Buying and Burying Babies.

Mrs. Swinton was told to take it back to the midwife and say that the lady that had adopted it had died, and as she was only the nurse she could not afford to keep it. The midwife did not believe this story, but took the infant back when she was given a bonus of $5. Then the fourth baby, which Mr. Hamilton believed all along was his daughter, was bought for $10 from another midwife, and as it seemed to be healthy "Mrs. Hamilton" said that with its aid she would get possession of all Mr. Hamilton's mother's plate and jewelry. All the time that the woman was buying and burying babies, she was also engaged in working upon her dupe's feelings.

Married to Hamilton at Last.

Her tears were copious, and she would dangle the innocent little thing before Mr. Hamilton, saying that it had no father or mother or even a name. At last Mr. Hamilton consented to marry her, notwithstanding her past life, and the ceremony was accordingly performed. Inspector Byrnes possesses proof of the purchase of the four children and also knows the name of the mother of the child which Mr. Hamilton supposed was his. He has in his possession affidavits to prove everything which Mrs. Swinton told him. There is a birthmark on the infant which will establish beyond doubt that it is the identical one that was bought for $10.

English Buy a Chicago Brewery.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—An English company has bought the Chicago brewery, formerly owned by Peter Schoenhofen, Messrs. Hurst and Percy, of New York, having conducted the negotiations. According to the transfer papers, dividends for three years are guaranteed by a cash deposit. Mr. Schoenhofen is now in England.

FOREST FIRES EXTINGUISHED.

A Great Amount of Damage Caused in Montana Territory.

HELENA, M. T., Sept. 4.—The forest fires which have been raging in the mountains for the last six weeks are now supposed to have been extinguished by the heavy rains and snow which fell Sunday night. In the vicinity of Elliston and Ten Miles, snow to the depth of four to six inches covers the ground. The fires raged fiercely Saturday and Sunday. About 1,500 people turned out at Elliston and other places to fight the flames. They worked all night Saturday, and to half past 1 Sunday night.

The Welcome Rain.

Many came out with scorched faces, burned clothing and bloodshot eyes. Huge cinders were blowing in the air, and the arrival of rain and snow was never so welcome as it was there. In the morning the top of the range was covered with snow, a very rare occurrence at this season of the year. The fire still smoulders in the trunks of trees, and may take a fresh start if the wind rises. Many bridges have been burned, as well as miners' cabins. The snow fall saved the town of Jay Gould and the Gould mill and mining property there.

Everything Burned to Ashes.

The fire at Ten Miles was a fire and disastrous one. Starrock & Brown's sawmill is a mass of ruins. The timber in that section was fir, cedar, and pine, and was said to be the finest forest in Montana. Hundreds of the trees were four feet thick at the trunk. One pile of logs stood twenty feet high and 500 feet long. The area burned is very large and the occupation of the woodsmen in that section is gone forever, as everything is burned to ashes.

TROUBLE AT THE POLLS

A Republican Deputy Sheriff Shot During a Louisiana Election.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 4.—Telegrams from various points in the Third congressional district indicate the election of Andrew Price, Democrat, by a large majority over H. C. Miner, Republican. The only place where trouble occurred was at Franklin, where a Republican deputy sheriff named Jacobs was shot while making threats and attempting to draw his pistol. The following account of the affair has been received by Chairman Moore, of the Democratic state committee, from John A. O'Neil, an old and respected citizen of Franklin: Jacobs had been troublesome and officious at the polls. Neither the committee, commissioners or by-standers knew he was a deputy sheriff. No announcement to that effect had been made. When leaving the court muttering threats he drew his pistol and made a murderous assault, and was shot down before he could fire. The wound is not necessarily fatal. No disturbances whatever followed.

THREATENED WITH VIOLENCE.

Great Excitement Over the Failure of the Lenox, Iowa, Bank.

LENOX, Iowa, Sept. 4.—The failure of the banking house of L. S. Brooks, of Lenox, Iowa, Monday caused much excitement here, and it has been increasing hourly. Brooks and his cashier have been arrested, and a crowd of the depositors of the bank has threatened them with personal violence, but there is little danger of anything but talk. Several depositors say they questioned Brooks and his cashier about the bank's soundness within the last few days, and being assured of its solvency deposited their money, even after banking hours on Saturday. Attachments have been levied on all of Brooks' property. The sheriff found the bank vaults empty of cash. Brooks says he will pay, but the creditors are not hopeful. Congressman J. P. Dolliver and others have been retained by the creditors to fight the cases through the courts.

Resigned His Position.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—E. T. Jeffry, general manager of the Illinois Central Railroad company, has severed his connection with that road. He placed his resignation in the hands of President Fish just before that official's departure for Europe, but it was understood that he would continue to fill the office of general manager until Dec. 1, as requested by Mr. Fish. A disagreement between General Manager Jeffrey and Vice President Harriman on a question pertaining to the management of the road has caused the former to leave the company earlier than was expected. The trouble was that Harriman insisted upon the observance of a by-law of the company that no reduction in rates should be made with out consultation with the president, while Jeffrey had an understanding with President Fish that permitted him to ignore that law.

A Strange Cattle Disease.

CARTHAGE, Ills., Sept. 4.—The strange cattle disease which has broken out at Dallas City, in Hancock county, is as much of a puzzle to breeders as ever. Not long ago many cattle in north Hancock county died from a disease called bloat, that was attributed to overfeeding. This disease, however, seems to have no direct cause. The disease is almost wholly confined to milch cows. Many have wandered away to the woods or islands near the city and died. A number of animals are sick with the strange disease. They refuse all food, and medicine seems to have no effect upon them. If the trouble does not soon abate an appeal may possibly be made to the proper authorities at Springfield.

Western Waterways Convention.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4.—The convention for the improvement of western waterways began a two days' session Wednesday morning at the Scottish Rites cathedral, which has been handsomely decorated for the occasion. Hon. W. S. Holman, of Indiana, was temporary chairman. There are about 200 delegates here. Wednesday's programme included the election of permanent officers and routine business, ending with a steamboat ride to Coney Island. Among the subjects to be discussed are the improvement of western waterways, the indorsement of New Orleans as a naval station and the indorsement of the Hennepin canal.

Ruptured a Blood-Vessel.

RED BANK, N. J., Sept. 4.—Thomas Vincent Murray, the 19-year-old son of Superintendent of Police Murray, of New York, who with his family is spending the summer in East Red Bank, met a sudden death Tuesday. He was playing ball and ran to catch a fly. As he threw up his hands he was seized with a sharp pain near his heart and fell. He was picked up and taken home, and on the arrival of a doctor it was found that he had ruptured a blood-vessel near the heart by overexertion. He died two hours later.

Indiana Republican Editors.

WARSAW, Ind., Sept. 4.—The Republican Editorial association began its summer session here Tuesday afternoon with about seventy-five editors in attendance. The summer meetings of the association are devoted more to pleasure than to business, and many of the editors brought their wives with them.

STATE CONVENTIONS.

New York Liquor Dealers Meet at Rochester.

THE ADDRESS OF MAYOR PARSONS.

Empire State Prohibitionists Assemble at Syracuse, and After a Prayer Meeting the Convention Is Called to Order—Pennsylvania Democrats in Convention at Harrisburg.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The State Liquor Dealers' association held its first session at Macauerchor hall Wednesday morning. As early as 9 o'clock the representatives of the organization began to assemble. As many as 300 delegates were in attendance. After welcoming the guests to Rochester, Mayor Parsons concluded his address as follows:

"All men agree that drunkenness is not only a disgrace, but a crime, and it is punished as such by the statutes of all civilized countries. I do not intend to argue to this convention of representative dealers that it is the duty of all good citizens to aid in carrying out this wise law. I, as chief magistrate of this city, however, in my perhaps take the liberty to suggest that it is eminently proper for you, in your deliberations, to advocate such measures as will aid in maintaining good order and sobriety everywhere. Remember in your deliberations that you are not only delegates to the Liquor Dealers' convention, but that you are also loyal citizens of this glorious commonwealth, the Empire state."

President Kearns' Remarks.

In his address President Kearns said: "The condition of our organization, as will be apparent from the report of our financial secretary and of the executive committee, will show that we have not only held our lines, but have added strength to our membership since the date of our last session."

Pennsylvania Democrats.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 4.—The Democratic state convention met here Wednesday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for state treasurer. The platform reaffirms the position taken at the last Democratic national convention on the tariff; hits at Tanner and his policy; objects to the manner in which the state administration gives out the money in the sinking fund to favorite banks, and in short, is thoroughly Democratic.

Samuel W. Wherry, of Cumberland, was chosen temporary chairman. After his address half an hour's recess was taken, and upon reassembling Congressman Daley was made permanent chairman. Edward Bixler, of Clearfield county was nominated for state treasurer, and the convention adjourned.

Bay State Prohibitionists.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 4.—The state Prohibition convention was called to order at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Mechanics' hall. A permanent organization was perfected with Mr. George Kempton, of Sharon, as chairman. Mr. Kempton on taking the chair was cheered vociferously and made an address, adding a postscript directed to the temperance Republicans as "Our friendly opponents."

Dr. John Blackmer, of Springfield, was nominated for governor and B. F. Stevenson, of Jamaica Plains, for lieutenant governor.

New York Prohibitionists.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Nearly 500 delegates met at 11 a. m. Wednesday in the Prohibition state convention in this city. The convention was opened by F. F. Wheeler, of Albany, chairman of the state committee. A. A. Hopkins, of Rochester, was elected temporary chairman and made an address occupying most of the time remaining for the morning session and before the organization of the convention was completed. Before opening the convention a prayer meeting was held.

National Bankruptcy Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 4.—The second session of the national bankruptcy convention was called to order at 10 a. m. The committee on credentials made their report which was adopted. The committee on resolutions reported that a number of communications had been received from different sources since their meeting in St. Louis, Feb. 28, favoring the proposed bankrupt law. The committee recommended that these communications be referred to the executive committee, and that such as recommend the measures to their judgment be published with the proceedings of the meeting.

Fire in a Pennsylvania Colliery.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 4.—No. 2 colliery, of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, at Oliphant, Pa., caught fire Wednesday morning, and it is believed that twenty acres of the inside workings are in flames. Smoke is pouring in thick clouds from the different slopes and air shafts, making it almost impossible for workmen to make any headway in the preparations for flooding the mines. Before the fire can be reached and water turned forty feet of solid coal will have to be tunneled so as not to endanger lives of workmen. Three hundred men are thrown out of work by the fire.

Duluth Laborers Happy.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 4.—The laborers on the city contracts have at last been conceded what blood was shed for and what a long strike failed to get for them—$1.75 for a day's work. It came as an entire surprise to them, and the rejoicing was much heartier than if they had known of it. The contractors came to the conclusion last Saturday that they could afford to give $1.75, as the weather had been everything that was needed to get along rapidly with city work.

Sidney Dillon in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 4.—Sidney Dillon, of New York, and a party of friends, arrived here Tuesday night from Puget sound. His trip here is principally for pleasure. He left New York several weeks ago. Mr. Dillon said he would remain here for several days, just to take in the city. The rest of the party will probably leave for San Francisco sooner. Mr. Dillon is in the best of health, and says he greatly enjoyed his trip across the continent.

The Charges Dismissed.

MARION, Ind., Sept. 4.—The case of the Rev. G. P. Riley, of this city, charged with heresy, lying, and evil speaking, was called before the Wesleyan Methodist Episcopal conference at Black Creek Monday. The accused was represented by the Rev. Mr. Scott, of Ohio, who made an extended address defining and defending his client's position. At the conclusion of the address the charges against Mr. Riley were dismissed.

Forty car-loads of sealskins, the entire catch of the Alaska Fair company for the last year, passed over the Union Pacific Tuesday, bound for England.

DRESSED BEEF INVESTIGATION.

Armour and Swift Fail to Appear Before the Committee.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The senatorial investigation into the dressed beef industries was resumed Wednesday morning. G. T. Swift, the dressed beef dealer was expected to appear before the commission—having been subpœned for the third time—but he did not come. P. D. Armour also had been notified to appear, but was not present. George T. Williams, secretary of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company, was recalled and asked for a list of stockholders in the company. Mr. Williams stated that he had consulted counsel and had been advised not to furnish it. He was excused. President John B. Sherman, of the Stock Yards company, was then called. He testified that the principal buyers of cattle were the packers and shippers of cattle. He did not know who the stockholders were; that was the secretary's business.

Revenue of the Stock Yards.

Witness explained that the source of revenue for the Stock Yards company was the charge on hay and yardage, which included feeding, watering, weighing, etc. Witness believed there was $4,000,000 in stock of the company. Very little of it was for sale. He believed its price ranged from 90 to 115. In reply to a question, witness stated there were no relations between the stock yards at Omaha and Kansas City and those at Chicago. After waiting in vain for Messrs. Swift and Armour, the commission took a recess. Senator Farwell was asked what the commission proposed to do in case Messrs. Armour, Swift and Morris failed to appear before them, and if they would take measures to force them to come in. He replied that they had not considered such an emergency as yet, and that he thought they would come.

THE DOCKMEN'S STRIKE.

A Number of Men at Work in London—End of the Liverpool Strike.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—There is a marked further increase in the number of men who are at work on the docks. The dock companies are resuming the work of loading vessels and the wharves present a brisk appearance. The captains and officers of the Peninsular and Oriental line of steamships, assisted by a large force of lascars Wednesday began the loading of the steamers of that line. A crowd of strikers, belonging to the Coal Trimmers' league attacked the lascars and the police were compelled to fire upon them, both of the strikers was fatally wounded.

Meeting of the Strikers.

A large meeting of the striking dockmen was held at Tower Hill Wednesday. The principal speakers was Labor Agitator Burns. He denounced the idea of seeking an adjustment of their different through go-betweens and asserted that the strikers committee and that of the dock companies were the only competent bodies through whom a settlement should be sought. He declared the men were firm and denied the reports that there had been desertions from their ranks. He intimated that strikes would be inaugurated in Glasgow and Southampton.

DIGGING FOR TREASURE.

Searching for Gold and Valuables Hidden by Emperor Montezuma.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 4.—On the outskirts of the wilderness of Pedregal, in the ancient town of Coyoacan hundreds of men are digging for treasure believed to have been buried years ago. The Emperor Montezuma is known to have hidden a fabulous amount of treasure, estimated at $84,000,000, and Senor Mercado, a lineal descendant of Cuauhtemoc, the last Aztec ruler, claims to have hieroglyphic documents pointing out the exact spot where the treasure, including an immense golden sun, is hidden. The place undoubtedly exhibits a remarkable appearance. Long galleries, winding staircases, skeletons, and ancient pottery have been found.

A Hundred Men at Work.

A private company has purchased the right to search the place, and 100 men are at work. For many years the wilderness and the ruins of this ancient city have been the resort of outlaw robbers, and even in recent years men who wished to escape determined pursuit have frequented the locality. If Senor Mercado's claims are reliable there is little doubt a great sum of money and articles of unappreciable historical value will be unearthed.

Catholic Young Men's Union.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 4.—The second day's session of the Catholic Young Men's National Union was opened by requiem mass for deceased members. The red breast was Rev. John H. Hughes, C. S. A FATAL DECISION.

It Cost a Base Ball Umpire His Life.

KILLED BY A CONGRESSMAN'S SON.

A Bloody Riot Narrowly Averted During a Ball Game in South Carolina—A Slanderer Deeply Humbled by a Young Lady—The Recent Race Riots in the South—Other Crimes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The World's Charlotte, N. C., special says: A terrible tragedy was enacted Wednesday on the base ball ground in the little town of Darlington, S. C., just across the North Carolina line. William Marshall, a clever young man, the son of Capt. Joseph T. Marshall, of Wadesboro, was killed, his slayer being Leon Dargan, 17 years old, the son of George W. Dargan, congressman from the Sixth congressional district of South Carolina. The game was being played by the Darlington team against the Wadesboro team, and was umpired by William Marshall, of Wadesboro, and a member of the home team. At the end of the eighth inning Wadesboro was in the lead by a score of 8 to 4. A propensity toward turbulence had already been displayed by the home club and the spectators.

Hit with a Base Ball Bat.

One of the Darlington men in attempting to steal third base ran over and was clearly and fairly put out, and it was so decided by the Wadesboro umpire. There was a great hubbub all over the field, accompanied by threats of violence. A dispute followed, and during the excitement young Dargan, Darlington's short-stop, rushed up with a heavy bat in his hand, and with a mighty blow on the side of the head felled Umpire Marshall to the ground like a log. Pistols, knives and bats were drawn and a general riot seemed imminent. Young Marshall lay senseless on the ground with blood freely oozing from his mouth, nostrils and ears. Only by the greatest exertion was a bloody riot prevented. Marshall was carried home and every attention given to him, but he died. Dargan has been arrested.

A PLUCKY GIRL STUDENT.

She Makes Her Traducer Confess Himself a Liar and Slanderer.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 4.—Miss Kittie Hickey is a charming girl of 18. She is a student at the business college here, and as she is an orphan she has been rooming with Mrs. Garrens, at 1012 P street, and taking her meals at the students' club house, at 1239 P street. W. B. Redish, the dashing and missing young gentleman who until a few days ago was the city circulator for The Evening News, was also a boarder at the same place. He became smitten with Kittie's many charms and desired to take her to various places of amusement. She did not reciprocate this wealth of affection which he desired to bestow on her, but on the contrary she disliked him heartily.

Went Gunning for Him.

He had boasted of his sentiments toward her to the other boarders, and when they saw how the land lay and twitted him about "getting the mitten," he boasted of having been unduly intimate with her. This came to her ears Tuesday, and late in the evening she went gunning for him, and in the presence of twenty-five or thirty boarders she made him get down on his knees and confess himself a liar and slanderer. She is a little heroine among her large circle of acquaintances.

Shot Down Like Dogs.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4.—J. C. Engle, representing a New York sugar house, and also interested in the cotton trade, arrived here Tuesday night. He had been in and about Greenwood, the scene of the recent riots, and he says that the number of negroes that were killed will never be known. They were shot down like dogs, he says, wherever found. In door yards and even in houses men, women and children were murdered. "I saw a white boy of 16," continued Mr. Engle, "blow out the brains of a little colored girl, while a bigger brother with a gun kept the little one's parents off. If the whites of the north knew of the atrocities practiced in Mississippi they would feel like sweeping the state from the face of the earth."

Crooked Pension Work.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—The district attorney Tuesday entered suit to recover $1,116 from Mrs. Sarah Thatcher, of Shelbyville, who was a soldier's widow, married a second time and after the death of her second husband secured an annulment of the marriage and a rerating of her pension through Representative Wilson. The amount demanded in the complaint represents the sum drawn from the government as a result of the annulment of her second marriage. Similar suits will be entered against Martha Price for $1,269, Emily Norval for $320 and Scieta Hay for $500. Wilson succeeded in having the second marriage of each of these parties annulled and their names restored to the pension list. Five other cases are now pending.

Both Loved the Same Woman.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 4.—Malad City, just over the Idaho border, has been thrown into excitement by a fatal duel between two young men, Abraham Likes and Jude Spring, of Clark's Flat. They came here last spring and went into partnership ranching. Both fell in love with the same woman, Jemima Trauts. Unable to reach an amicable arrangement they resorted to the brookside with six-shooters and there settled the matter by fatally wounding each other. They were buried where they fell, side by side. What has become of the girl does not appear.

Postoffice Raided by Burglars.

MOLINE, Ills., Sept. 4.—Cracksmen entered the postoffice Monday night through an open transom, drilled holes through each of the two vault doors, broke the locks, and then rifled the vault and office at their leisure, taking $1,300 worth of postage stamps, $300 in cash belonging to the office and additional cash from registered letters, one of which alone contained $316 for the Barnard & Leas Manufacturing company of this city. There is no clue to the burglars, who were evidently professionals.

Murder and Suicide.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 4.—Billy Johnson, aged 24, employed by the Denver Fuel company, shot and killed his sweetheart, Jennie Shrock, Tuesday night, because she had received the attentions of a rival. Johnson then shot himself dead.

An Advance in Wages.

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 4.—The wages of the employes of the Stewart Iron company were raised 10 per cent. Tuesday. This is regarded by the men as a forerunner of a general advance in the wages of the 2,000 Shenango valley furnacemen.

Frightened to Death by a "Ghost."

BELLEVUE, Ky., Sept. 4.—The largest funeral seen here for years was that Tuesday of Mrs. Augusta Ruscoll, one of the richest women in the state. She was frightened to death by a ghost. For some time an "uncanny" visitor has appeared nightly in a room over Boro's grocery and crowds gathered nightly to see it. Saturday night Mrs. Ruscoll went to see the "ghost." She was very fleshy and was afflicted with a tumor. When suddenly the ghost appeared she fell dead. Monday night a thorough investigation was made, and it was found that the "ghost" is the reflection of an electric light at the river landing.

A Fireman's Frightful Fall.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 4.—Tuesday afternoon as Barney McBreen, a fireman, was practicing with the pompier scaling ladders on the Midland hotel, he fell from the eighth story. He struck on his side on an ice wagon, broke several ribs and was injured internally. In his descent he struck Edward Carroll, who was on the ladder at the seventh story, breaking the ladder, but Carroll saved himself by grasping the unbroken part. McBreen is still alive.

Reunion of the Blue and Gray.

ROGERS, Ark., Sept. 4.—The second annual reunion of the Blue and the Gray participators in the battle of Pea Ridge, began here Tuesday. There was a large attendance. Speeches were made by Senator Berry, Judge James E. Campbell of Wichita, Kan., and others. Senator Berry made a stirring appeal to ex-Confederate soldiers in aid of the state home for Confederate troops.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1889.

THEY ARE COMING.

We have lately been treated to the interesting spectacle of Gov. Ames and other New England protectionists who are engaged in iron and steel manufactures, petitioning congress for free raw materials in their industries. These men are giving it out that they cannot make any headway in the line of competition, unless their raw material shall come to them free of duty. In fact they say that they cannot exist unless this concession is granted them. This is all very good so far as the iron and steel men are concerned. They have got the right idea, the one that the democratic party suggested to them a long time ago. They would not take up with the idea then, because it was democratic, and because its adoption would interfere with the return of the republican party to power.

But now these New England iron men would like to take up with that idea, and still retain the party in power that subscribed to the Chicago platform. To this end they petition congress to give them free raw material. There is a duty of 75 cents a ton on iron ore. The men from Massachusetts would like to see this duty removed. The protection of $17 dollars a ton that is has on some of his manufactured iron, does not make that burden of 75 cents any lighter. That New England is no hog on margin.

But then let them have the free raw material which they petition. Anything at all to make an opening in the ranks of that crowd. When they have got their free material the woolen men will come along with a like petition. How will these be repressed? And we can then see the end of this thing.

But these considerations lead us to say that the iron men will have to make a mighty strong fight before congress, as now constituted, will even listen to their prayer.

The Chicago platform means a dedication of protection. There has long been some talk to the effect that the republican party might take up with the democratic idea of a sensible and honest reduction in the tariff. The Chicago Tribune started the cry, and insisted that Harrison should steal Cleveland's thunder. But there is no real danger of this. The "organized greed" of the country is protection to the backbone. It was born to grasp the artificial advantage there is in class legislation. It will not stir an inch from the Chicago position.

It is on this account that the advance guard of the robber barons will station itself at the doors of congress, and fight off even the New England manufacturer when he tries to make a rent in the great Chinese wall of protection. So that the friends of tariff reform can expect but little from the honest petition that is now circulating among strange fellows in New England.

We might mention to The Despatch that these New Englanders do not think that they are making iron and steel cheaper than in England. And we might remark that if free raw material is good for the iron manufacturers, it ought to be good for all other industries. And this is what Cleveland said a long time ago. His position was an honest one, supported by the disinterested intelligence of the world. Time is on his side, and will yet officiate at the burial of Jim Blaine and his economic notions.

GENERAL GORDON.

The Despatch gives every evidence of possessing the peculiar talents that will develop into a bloody-shirt waver as time rolls by. Editorially it has some economic notions of which a pretentious gourd would be ashamed. There is also a headline writer on the paper who does good republican duty on the first page. We don't know who reads the dispatches and then puts heads on them, but we would advise Fire-Alarm Foraker to send for the gent and make him private secretary. He seems to be made of the material that would gladden Foraker's heart.

Take up The Despatch of Wednesday morning, glance down the first column and read this headline: "The Lost Cause—An Ex-Rebel Laments His Defeat and Lauds His Defenders." Now there is a startling headline for you. It is after the style of the Globe-Democrat. In support of that headline we are given an extract from the speech of Gen. Gordon at Atlanta. Gordon was known to be a level-headed fellow, and there was instant wonder that he should have made a speech in the ultra Jeff Davis style. Well, a perusal of even The Despatch's extract will show that the headline is a libel. We suppose the lament of Gen. Gordon is contained in the opening sentence of the extract, in which he says: "It is ennobling for a people to cherish the memory of its heroic past, whether it was crowned with success or consecrated with defeat." Mr. Grady once made the very same statement and it was applauded everywhere. It is full of truth and as old as the world.

But Gordon said more. "The republic has no class of defenders more true and devoted than the ex-soldiers of the south, and their descendants" was also part of the extract. And Gordon went on to say, "The organization (the Confederate soldiers) will transmute the past glories of the dead Confederacy into inspiration for future service for the living republic. It will cultivate national, as well as southern fraternity."

Now the above does not sound much like treason. Neither is there in it any lament for the cause that was lost. Would The Despatch have Gen Gordon revile his old comrades? Suppose the man should. Would The Despatch then regard him as a more trustworthy citizen? The people of the north, who are not professionals, have no objection to the warm feelings that Gen. Gordon has for his old comrades. We like the man better for it. We do not ask him to curse the men with whom he marched. Probably The Despatch would not, after a little time for thought. We do not think that the headline is its sober thought. But the objection is to the constant spirit of criticism of things southern that made such a headline possible. There are newspaper men in this country who have yet to learn that the south is a part of the Union. It would be just as well to stop this continual lying about members of our own family.

WE can't be too persistent in calling the attention of our country cousins to the fact that they must now exercise a watchful care over their horses when they come to the city. The electric cars are at large upon our streets and the jay horse is usually very much afraid of them. It is only a day or two since one of our agriculturists, J. R. Mosser, experienced considerable trouble and excitement in an endeavor to steer one of his plow steeds up to an electric car. The steed cut up all sorts of capers, and did his best to break back to his native heath, somewhere among the woods or canebrakes north of the city. In this case the disturbance was doubly annoying, owing to the humiliations that the jay horse put upon his driver, who is a little bit touchy about living in the country. As he comes to town nearly every day he had better make arrangements to tie his horse out at the city limits, and ride into town on the street cars. Another scheme would be to put a bell on the horse and thus give the street car men notice of his approach. In this case they can take steps to partially screen the car from view while the Alvin Joslin outfit is going by. We commend all these suggestions to our city officers, and ask them to take steps to insure the safety of this great countryman who has an ill-defined penchant for literature.

SOMEBODY reports that our picturesque townsman, DeWitt C. Sheckley, now sports a horse and buggy in his migrations to and fro in our city. A republican sent word to this office a day or two since that this horse was being kept at the city's expense. We don't know when the enabling ordinance was passed, so we are bound to consider that there must be some mistake. But let our citizens keep a sharp look out for this horse, and let them particularly note his journeyings about meal time. There may be something in this rumor. If the city is to have the keep of any more horses imposed upon it, we would like to have the charter amended so as to enable the mayor, with the advice and consent of the council, to establish a livery and feed stable department to our city government.

A Happy Woman.

"The happiest women, like the happiest nations, have no history," says that wonderful writer, George Elliot, but no woman can be happy who is suffering from the irregularities and "weakness" so common to the sex. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will soothe nervous troubles and restore health and vigor once more. The roses will bloom again on those faded cheeks. It is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of prolapsus, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing-down" sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration, inflammation, pain and tenderness, and kindred ailments.

Encouragement.

"What a pity you don't have looking glasses all along the walls—then one could see oneself as one went round, you know.

"Why, miss, if you was to see yourself in a looking glass just now, you'd never git on a 'orse again!"—Punch.

Human Nature.

Conversation twenty years hence—Young Man—Father, I suppose you witnessed the great parade at the time of the Washington centennial celebration?

Father—No, I failed to see it.

"It seems strange that you should have missed such a big thing. What was the reason?"

"Because I was living in New York at the time. Busy in the office that day, you see. If you want to know anything about it ask your uncle George—he came on from Alaska and saw the whole thing."—New York Tribune.

He Knew Her.

Mrs. Hendricks—Bertie, your mother is calling you.

Bertie Teaser—Yes'm, I know it. But I guess she don't want me very bad.

Mrs. Hendricks—She's called you seven times already.

Bertie Teaser—Yes, I know; but she hasn't yelled "Albert" yet.—Time.

Appropriate.

Fenderson (who is struck with an idea)—Baw Jove, Minnie, but isn't it doocid odd, don't yer know, that the first president should have had the same name as the capital of the United States? And quite appropriate, too, when a fellah comes to think of it, don't yer know.—Boston Transcript.

Fond of Flowers.

Mr. B.—My dear Mrs. Croesus, may I not put your name down for tickets to Professor Pandit's course of lectures on Buddhism?

Mrs. C.—Oh, by all means! You know how passionately fond I am of flowers.—Nursery World.

The Way He Felt About It.

Visitor—So your sister is off on a visit, Willie. I suppose you feel very lonesome without her?

Five-year-old Willie (dubiously)—Ye-es, I feel lonesome—but—I'm good deal more comfortable.—Chicago Journal.

Only Three.

The conversation turned upon a certain gentleman who is not what you may call a brilliant speaker. "He has only three faults," a friend apologetically remarked: "1, he reads his speeches; 2, he reads them badly; 3, they are not worth reading."—La Caricature.

Too Fraternal.

"You're a nice editor, Chubbs!" "What's the matter now?" "Why! you say 'the publisher of The Daily Voice is an unmitigated ass.'" "Well, he is!" "But you add: 'We advise our brother journalist to reform his stupid ways!'"—Chicago Ledger.

Speaking of Cats.

Cornelia—I'm undecided as to how to wear my hair. Can you suggest a becoming way?

Cordelia—Why not originate a new roll for it, and call it the "bankrupt twist?" It's certainly short enough.—Judge.

Too True.

Plenty of men can tell you what the score of today's ball game was and be at the same time utterly unable to say anything about their own scores at the corner grocery.—Merchant Traveler.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. 7

Taking a Drink.

At a Park Drinking Fountain—Have a drink, Pheeb?

"No, you drink, Sadie."

"No, you drink."

"Oh-ugh. You drink."

"Drink!"

"Drink yourself."

"Uh-ugh. I'm not much thirsty, anyway."

"Well, I'm in no hurry. You drink, Sadie."

"Age before beauty. He! He! Drink, Pheeb."

"No, you drink. I drank first at the other fountain."

"That doesn't make any difference. I got the cup first. You drink."

"No, you drink."

"You drink."

And so on for about five minutes, to the rapturous delight of the thirsty crowd waiting for the two young women from Geehaw to settle the question of precedence.—Chicago Tribune.

A Wakeful Guardian.

Johnson—Dat's a mighty pore dawg ob yours, Yallerby. He's bones mos' stick out frough he's skin.

Yallerby—Huh! Dat's jes' whad meks him a good watch dawg. He kain't lie down wivout hurtin' ob hisself.—Judge.

Discount.

It used to be the custom, and is now in many localities, to "beat down" in all trades with storekeepers and merchants. An amusing example of this practice is given below:

In the old haggling way of trade it was customary to demand a great deal more than the asker hoped to get. One time, on the Texas frontier, a man came into a camp riding on an old mule.

"How much for the mule?" asked a bystander.

"Jist a hundred dollars," answered the rider.

"I'll give you five dollars," said the other.

The rider stopped short, as if in amazement, and then slowly dismounted.

"Stranger," said he, "I ain't a-goin' to let a little matter of ninety-five dollars stand between me and a mule trade. The mule's yourn."

Another story, somewhat of the same sort, is related of an old tenant farmer who, on paying his rent, told his landlord that he wanted some timber to build a house, and would be much obliged if he would give him permission to cut down what would answer for the purpose.

"No!" said the landlord, sharply.

"Well, then, sir," the farmer went on, "will you give me enough to build a barn?"

"No!"

"To make a gate, then?"

"Yes."

"That's all I wanted," said the farmer, "and more than I expected."—Yankee Blade.

A Severe Shock.

First Exquisite—Bah Jove, Cholly, you are looking all broke up. What's up?

Second Ditto—I was walking down street just now, with my choicest suit on, and a fellow insulted me grievously.

"You don't mean it, old boy! What did he do?"

"Why, the rascal stuck into my hand one of those beastly three-dollar-pants circulars! My goodness! I really thought I should swoon."—Boston Transcript.

The Revenge of Time.

Tapeyard—Who is that stunning girl you raised your hat to?

Ribbonley—Miss Goldie Bullion.

Tapeyard (timidly)—She didn't return your courtesy. Perhaps she doesn't know you.

Ribbonley (bitterly)—No; she does not know me now; but when I am the only young man at Ocean Foam next summer she will not only know me but pine for me in vain.—Lowell Citizen.

Always Make a Good Beginning.

Milkman—Know where the folks of this house moved to? They owe me $2 for milk.

Policeman—Don't know. Presume there was $1.50 worth of water in the milk, wasn't there?

Milkman—No; that's what hurts me. They were new customers and I hadn't begun to water their milk yet. I always sell straight goods for the first ten days and make it up the next ten.—Omaha World.

They Made Nothing Useful.

Wiggins (reflectively)—Lord MacEnoch? Lord MacEnoch? I don't remember any one of that name in the British nobility. Who was the founder of his family?

Baboony (haughtily)—My fwiend's family, sir, includes no founders, nor any other kind of manufacturwers.—Judge.

Heading Her Off.

Mrs. Travis—Ah, Johnnie! I have caught you with a fish pole over your shoulder! I shall go right and tell your father. Where is he?

Johnnie Dumpsey—Down at the foot of the garden diggin' the bait.—Burlington Free Press.

A Precocious Caution.

Uncle—Bobby, don't you hear your mother calling you?

Bobby—Yes'r.

Uncle—Well, why don't you hasten to her?

Bobby—Why, ma has heart disease, and she'd be surprised most to death if I answered the first time she called me.—Omaha World.

Success Difficult.

Mr. Lytewaite—It's too bad about poor Langley. His publisher has sold only twenty copies of his book of poems.

Billpid—Indeed, I'm surprised. And he is an excellent poet.

Lytewaite—Oh, yes; an excellent poet, but you see he doesn't know a dialect.—Time.

Edison Eclipsed.

"Who is that man over there who is receiving so much attention?"

"Why, haven't you heard of Mr. Cloverhead, the great inventor?"

"No—what did he invent?"

"That great puzzle, 'Fishes in the Frog Pond.'"—Yankee Blade.

Special Correspondence to The Review.

Threshing is nearly over.

Charles F. James has entered the telegraph office to learn the art of telegraphy.

Mrs. Frank McMullen has returned home from Kansas. Her many friends welcome her home.

School began Monday in the Progress district east of town. C. A. Lindsley, teacher.

Miss Johnson, primary teacher in the village school, spent Sunday with friends in town. So did John Keller, the principal.

Elmer Hilbrant, Ed. Reeser and wife, Andrew Wilson and wife have taken advantage of the cheap excursions east and have gone to Ohio to visit relatives.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hedges died Monday of brain trouble and summer complaint. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. O. Collins at the Presbyterian church. The remains were interred in the churchyard cemetery.

Elder Scott, of the Christian church, visited his brother, Rev. A. C. Scott, presiding elder of the U. B. Church. During his visit he preached two excellent sermons, Monday night and Tuesday night, at the Christian church. He departed Wednesday morning for his home in Hoffman, Ind. He made many friends while here.

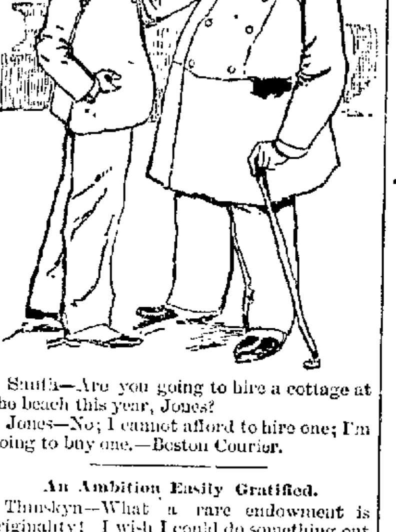

The annual conference of the United Brethren church will convene at Arrowsmith, Ill., one week from to-day, September 11. During this time there are many wonderings; by the church, who their new pastor will be; by the pastors, where the conference will send them.

The committee on finances in the interest of the new Presbyterian church for Argenta have almost raised enough money to build the new building—enough to insure the move to go. The exact location has not been determined yet, but it will be on one of the lots in Carr's last addition. It will be a beautiful structure.

Ninety-one car loads of grain and live stock, principally grain, were forwarded from this station during the month of August. Thirty-seven full car loads of freight were received during the same period. This is a good showing for a small station, giving evidence that our merchants and grain men are alive and enterprising by offering the proper inducements to bring the business here.

ALL THE NEWS FOR ONE CENT IN THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

The Real Secret of the unparalleled success of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS may be found in two distinguishing characteristics, which more than anything else have contributed to its remarkable growth.

FIRST:—It is a Daily Paper for Busy People. The people of the busy West appreciate keenly the necessity of an intelligent knowledge of the world's daily doings, but they are too busy to waste valuable time in searching through a cumbrous "blanket-sheet" newspaper for the real news of art, literature, science, religion, politics, and the thousand-and-one things which make up modern civilization. They want news—all the news—but they don't want it concealed in an overpowering mass of the trivial and inconsequential. It is because THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is "all wheat and no chaff," that its circulation is over "a million a week."

SECOND:—It is an Independent, Truth-telling Newspaper. The people demand a fair, impartial, independent newspaper, which gives all the news, and gives it free from the taint of partisan bias. With no mere political ambition to gratify, no "ax to grind," the impartial, independent newspaper may truly be "guide, philosopher and friend" to honest men of every shade of political faith; and this is why THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS has to-day a circulation of over "a million a week."

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS now adds to these two comprehensive elements of popularity, a third, in its unparalleled reduction of price to ONE CENT A DAY.

It is always large enough,—never too large. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is for sale by all newsdealers at One Cent per copy, or will be mailed, postage paid, for $3.00 per year, or 25 cents per month. The farmer and mechanic can now afford, as well as the merchant and professional man, to have his metropolitan daily.

SIXTH POINT

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because, being a daily newspaper, it's against the saloon. The home and the saloon are forever opposed. There can be no neutrals in this war. But THE DAILY NEWS is temperate in temperance. It isn't a prohibition organ—it's not sure prohibition is the best way of treating the evil—but it believes in prohibiting the saloon keeper from ruling and ruining in American society. If you would read, and have your family read, a newspaper which places the interests of the home higher than those of the saloon, read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

Remember—its circulation is 220,000 a day—over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cts. a month, four months $1.00,—one cent a day.

The Decatur Musical College

will begin its sixth year, Monday, Sept. 9, with the most favorable prospects. During the past season the attendance steadily increased, and this year, with a faculty every member of which ranks high among musicians, the outlook is for a larger school than ever before.

The piano department will be in charge of Miss Ellie H. Brown, graduate of the Pittsburg Conservatory of Music, where she studied under Prof. Dornberger, of the celebrated conservatory of Leipsic, Germany. She comes very highly recommended as a teacher and plryer of both piano and organ. Miss Anna W. Berry, who now for the fourth season enters upon her duties as teacher of the vocal department in the college, is too well known to need further recommendation. Mr. Bull, as a teacher of violin, Miss Florence L. Adams and Miss Nora Aileen Radcliff, as assistant piano teachers, complete the faculty for the present, and are all too well known by their work to need more than mention here.

A Fair Deal.

This has always been the motto of the Spencer & Lehman Co., and it has been the foundation of their wonderful success. They handle only the best class of goods, and, while quoting the lowest possible prices, they guarantee everything to be exactly as represented. It is in this way that they have obtained the lead and are now generally recognized as headquarters for all kinds of vehicles and agricultural implements. They have the largest and finest stock to be found in the state outside of Chicago. Are you thinking of buying a carriage, surrey, phaeton, road cart, sulky, or anything of the kind? You will make a mistake if you fail to call at their immense emporium on South Main street.

Waived Examination.

E. W. Wood and A. J. Wood, who were arrested Tuesday on complaint of Edward Wilson, appeared yesterday before Justice Curtis, waived examination, and were bound over in the sum of $300 each to appear before the grand jury at the September term of court. They furnished the requisite amount of bail and were released from custody. The witnesses in the case are Amanda Garvin, Minnie Isabel, W. B. Brown, E. H. Lee, Edward Wilson, Julia Brunnell, Lucretia Vanderwert and William Wilkinson. The punishment in case of conviction is a fine between $25 and $500, and the plaintiff is debarred from any suit for damages.

Wedding Bells.

At the residence of W. R. Scruggs, on Prone avenue, James R. Waterbury and Agnes R. Miles, of Sharon Springs, Kansas, were married at high noon yesterday. The simple and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Vosburgh, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attired in a becoming blue cloth travelling suit, and the groom wore the conventional black. Immediately after the marriage ceremony the company sat down to a very sumptuous wedding breakfast. Mr. Waterbury is an enterprising business man of Sharon Springs, Kansas. The bride is the adopted daughter of Mrs. O. Leroy Sedgwick, formerly of Rossville, Kansas. She has been visiting at Mr. W. R. Scruggs for the past few months. During her brief residence in our city she has made many warm friends, who wish her a long and happy married life. Mr. and Mrs. Waterbury left on the afternoon train for St. Louis, and from there they will go directly to their home at Sharon Springs, Kansas. The guests were Rev. George B. Vosburgh and wife, Edna and Paul Vosburgh, Dr. E. J. Brown, Fred Brown, Miss Lillie Brown, Miss Mabel Alexander, Miss Mollie Meriweather, Miss Alice Bering, besides the Scruggs family.

The Opera House Opening.

The interest is still sustained in the opening of the Grand Opera House that is to occur next Monday and Tuesday nights, and if there were twice as many seats in the parquet, dress circle and balcony, they could probably all be sold. Many who who bought extra seats on small speculation, have disposed of them at a premium of 50 cents to $1, and have thereby cleared the price of their own seats. Many of the residents in the neighboring towns are making applications for seats. Manager Haines wishes it announced that all the seats in the balcony and first floor are sold for the first night, but none of the seats in the gallery are sold, nor will they be until the night of the opening. The seats are very good, and admission to them will be at the uniform rate of 25 cents. Those who have no been able to obtain seats, and do not care to go into the gallery, will have a chance for a good seat for the second night, as there are still lots of good seats yet unreserved in all parts of the house. They are on sale, however, and no one should delay in securing a seat, as every day reduces the number of good ones left. The double bill of the second night, is undoubtedly a splendid one, and except in the plays rendered, everything will be just as on the first night.

Pears and Peaches.

HE RODE FREE.

The Man Who Bet He Could Beat the Conductor Is Now President of a Road.

Six or eight of us were sitting around the stove in the old Mansion house in Buffalo one night a decade of years ago, and the talk finally turned upon railroads and how conductors had been beaten by deadheads. One man told a story, to be followed by another, and a New Yorker finally observed:

"Yes, but this was in the past, before there was any real system or much sharpness. No one can beat a conductor in these days."

"That's very true," added a second. "You have got to either come down or get off."

There was a quarter of an hour of such talk, and then a man who had moved into the circle and remained silent finally said:

"Well, I dunno. I am sharp enough to ride from here to Batavia without paying fare."

"Got a pass, maybe?"

"No, I haven't."

"Do you mean to say that you can ride without ticket or money?"

"I have done it."

"Is the conductor a relative of yours?"

"No, sir."

"You didn't put up any personal property?"

"Not a thing."

"Well, if it can be done I'd like to see it. There are three of us going down, and I'll put up $25 that you can't ride for nothing."

"You won't put the conductor on to me?"

"No."

"Well, I'm going that way myself, and I believe I'll cover that bet. The understanding is that I show neither pass, ticket nor cash, nor secure the conductor."

"That's the size of it. Put your money in the hands of this gentleman, Judge Davis, who lives at Batavia."

The money was put up, and next morning we all went down to the train together. The man who was to beat the road told us to go into the smoker and he would presently join us.

We got seats and the train pulled out, and we were wondering if our man hadn't been hauled off before the start, when the door opened and he entered with the salutation:

"Tickets, if you please!"

"Say, if you keep on you'll be general manager some day!" sneered the loser when he saw that he had been roped.

He did better than that. A year ago he was made president of a hustling western road, and is now drawing a princely salary. —New York Sun.

On One Condition.

"Miss Mainchance," said Mr. Poorfellow, sadly, "I've nothing but my good name to offer you, but I love you passionately and well. Will you be my wife?" Miss Mainchance (sweetly)—Come around again in another month, Mr. Poorfellow. If Mr. Tenmillion doesn't propose by that time I will be your true, loving wife.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

He Would Take Less Temper.

Fangle—Waiter, I called for spring chicken.
Waiter—Yes, sah; dat am spring chicken.
Fangle—Then you may take it back, and bring one in which the spring is not quite so finely tempered.

AFFRAY AT OAKLAND.

Bill Appleton, of Arcola, Paralyzes Bill Henderson with a Neck-Yoke.

The little village of Oakland, a few miles east of Arcola on the T. H. & P. railroad, was all excitement yesterday evening over an affray that occurred between three Arcola roughs and some of the Oakland crowd. Bill Appleton, a barber, Matt Dugan and Sam Johnson went over from Arcola to Oakland and started in to celebrate by getting most gloriously drunk. William Henderson, a blacksmith at Oakland, was among the crowd that was around with the men, and they all put in their time drinking together. Finally, a little before 6 o'clock, they were standing in front of a saloon, and in some way got to quarreling. Blows passed, and Appleton finally struck Henderson in the head with a heavy neck-yoke. It was a vicious blow, and the blacksmith dropped to the ground as if his neck was broken. For a time it was thought that he was dead, but he revived, and at a late hour last night was believed to be out of danger.

Appleton and his companions went to the depot and boarded an east-bound train, thus taking them farther from Arcola. A few miles down the road the train met the one returning west, and they climbed into it instead. When they reached Oakland, Appleton retired into the closet and shut the door, leaving his companions outside, in the car. The city marshal of Oakland, with eight men to assist him, boarded the train and searched for Appleton, but could not find him, so they took with them Dugan and Johnson. When the train had started again, Appleton came out into the car from the closet. He said that he had no idea that the officers would be after them, and that if he had known it, he would have stayed out in the car and the whole town could not have arrested him. He has the reputation of being an unusually desperate character, and the probabilities are that the marshal knew this when he gathered up all the men he could to make the arrest. It is not known whether Appleton remained in Arcola last night or left for unknown parts. If Henderson should die it would probably go pretty hard for his assailant. None of the characters in the row are of very high class.

A CHURCH TRIAL.

All Day and All Night Session at Push Mud Church.

Sanner's chapel, more familiarly known as Push Mud church, is located in the edge of Shelby county, about 10 miles southeast of Macon. Rev. John D. Martin is the pastor, and S. E. Warrick and Jordan S. Smith are two of the members of the church. A difference arose between tenant Smith and landlord Warrick about rent, and Warrick resorted to law to enforce his claims. Therefore the pastor of the church asked Warrick to submit the matter in controversy to arbitration, as provided for in the Methodist discipline. Warrick declined, and charges were laid against him before the church authorities, alleging first, fraudulent seizure of the crops of Smith, and second, refusal to arbitrate.

The trial was set for Tuesday, Sept. 3. D. C. Corley, of Decatur, was employed to represent the prosecution, and J. R. Burres to defend Warrick. Rev. J. T. Orr, of Mattoon, presided at the trial, having been appointed by Rev. A. T. Orr, presiding elder of the Mattoon district. The decision rested with a committee of five from Bethany church.

The trial was begun at 10 o'clock a. m. No adjournment was taken for dinner, and as all the evidence was reduced to writing, the progress was very slow. Among the witnesses were Sexton E. Smith, Jordan S. Smith and Hiram Johnson, of Decatur. It was 6:30 o'clock when a recess was taken for lunch, all parties being nearly famished by that time.

At 8 o'clock proceedings were resumed, and when the closing speeches had been made the hand of the clock pointed half way between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning. The committee found Warrick guilty on both charges, and the presiding pastor formally announced his expulsion from the church.

Warrick is considerable of a fighter when he is "riled," and he will take an appeal to the next quarterly conference. He claims that the entire prosecution is prompted by private spite, and he will prefer charges of mal-administration against Rev. Martin before the annual conference.

The trial caused a great deal of interest in that neighborhood and was quite largely attended.

BOLD BURGLARY.

The Residence of Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Goodwin Entered Tuesday Night.

Rev. M. M. Goodwin and wife are suffering from the loss of a large amount of valuables which were taken from their home, 421 North College street, Tuesday night. The entrance was made through a front window, and no one in the house was disturbed. From the feeling in his head the next morning, Rev. Goodwin believes that he was dragged while asleep. Early in the evening while reading, he and his wife thought they heard a strange noise, but no person could be found about. When Rev. Goodwin retired he hung his vest on the headpost of his bed. In the morning he reached for it to get his watch from the pocket, and found the watch and chain gone. The watch and chain were valued at $300. They also took about $100 in money, and a pair of trousers belonging to Rev. Goodwin. Besides that, they also took all of Mrs. Goodwin's jewelry except a ring that was on her finger, and even some children's playthings that were scattered around. The total loss is probably between $600 and $700. There is no clue whatever to the burglars, and no one is suspected. It was a very good haul for one night's work, and the guilty ones doubtless feel well satisfied.

A Burglary.

There was another burglary Tuesday night, this one at the home of Henry Smith on Prairie Avenue. Mr. Smith discovered in the morning that in some way the house had been entered and a $50 watch had been taken, besides $3 in money. All the doors were locked and the windows down, so it is hard to see how any one could have gotten in.

The Rain.

The rain that we have all been wanting so badly, to help the crops and lay the dust, has been coming for the last two days in very good style. Yesterday afternoon it rained quite steadily for several hours, and in the evening kept it up until quite late. It has been very welcome indeed.

A Dandy Sweetheart.

The clever writer of "Wodertones" for the San Francisco Chronicle tells a good many good stories, of which the following is one: He was a humble newspaper man. You have heard of writing against time, how hard it is. It is not half so hard as writing against space. He was a humble slave of the pencil and brown paper, toiling along the rocky road that leads to the editorial desk, when there came an angel to gladden his heart and brighten his path. He used to do his courting between sentences, and snatch a long kiss between the paragraphs. To court and write for the newspapers at one and the same moment, is one of those supernatural feats only possible to true and enthusiastic love. But she was not one of your namby pamby girls, who sigh "Oh, George!" and interrupt your work by telling you how much they love you, and how sorry they are; not a bit of it. He hadn't much money. She had not much either. It was their object to get married. It was necessary to make money. She could not write, but she was a noble girl. She did not waste her sweetheart's time billing and cooing. He sat writing as hard as he could and she, the angel—I can see a harp with her initials on it now—she sat by his side. He was a space writer, and she sat by him while he scribbled, hunting through the dictionary for all the biggest possible words to give them to him to put in for small ones.

Bicycles at Newman.

Orville Ewing, 240 West Prairie Avenue, is given the distinction of a half column write-up in the Chicago Tribune of last Sunday. Mr. Ewing is traveling agent for Charles F. Stokes, a bicycle dealer in Chicago, and was at Newman, Ill., in the pursuit of his business. He telegraphed to Mr. Stokes that he had been warned by the town constable not to ride his wheel in the streets, as there was an ordinance prohibiting it. Mr. Stokes was mad. He telegraphed Mr. Ewing to ride regardless of consequences, promising to see him through if it made him a bankrupt. The excitement in Newman when the telegram came was intense. The next morning the mayor, aldermen, police and specials massed around the liberty-pole of the village, and in a few minutes the daring wheelman appeared, dressed in his most georgeous bicycle suit. In open-mouthed astonishment the crowd watched him go through his evolutions, and finally, conquered by the expertness of his feats, cheered him and asked for more. He thanked them but refused, rode to the depot and took his train without molestation. It is said that the authorities of Newman were so pleased with Mr. Ewing's performance that they will abolish the obnoxious ordinance, and adopt commonsense measures, similar to those in existence elsewhere.

A New Partnership.

"Buckingham & Schroll" is the sign that will soon appear as the firm name of one of the legal partnerships of Decatur. I. A. Buckingham, the senior member of the firm, is so well known in Decatur and Illinois, that no information about him is needed. He has had as large practice and as uniform success as any lawyer in this part of the state, and with him at the head the firm will necessarily be a strong one. His practice extends all over the state, and in many places outside of it, and the probabilities are that this partnership will give him an opportunity of extending his practice over still wider territory by giving him more freedom in the matter of getting away when business calls. The other member of the firm, Charles E. Schroll, is a son of ex-Alderman W. Schroll, and is well known here. He recently graduated from the Harvard Law School, and since that time has been reading in Mr. Buckingham's office. He is an an exceptionally bright young man, and with the advantages and associations he will now have, he will have every opportunity to make of himself a first-class practitioner. The new firm will be a strong one in every particular.

Lincoln.

The annual reunion of the Houser and Hoover families and connections will take place at the fair grounds at Atlanta a week from Thursday, the 12th. From 125 to 150 guests are expected to be present, and they will hail from Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Kansas and Illinois. A special car will come down from Bloomington for the occasion.

"Hon. R. J. Oglesby will address the Sunday schools of the county on his 'Impressions of Egypt and the Holy Land,'" is the startling notice upon a poster circulated upon the streets of this city to-day. This talk is to take place at Spring Bank next Saturday, where a Sunday school basket picnic is to be held.

The whereabouts of the missing Pat J. Ruth is known to at least a certain law firm in this city, if to no one else. There have been filed in the circuit clerk's office here, three confessions of judgment in favor of Dennis Dee, Thomas L. Keegan and Y. P. Murphy, respectively. These confessions were signed by P. J. Ruth in his well known hand, and were compared by your correspondent with signatures known to be Ruth's. The signatures were made last Tuesday, the 27th ult. There are at least a score of creditors against the Ruth estate, enough with costs and the like to probably more than cover the assets. The creditors above mentioned are of course preferred creditors, and this is a pretty shrewd scheme in their attorneys in keeping Ruth's location a secret.

Lincoln, Ill., Sept. 4, 1889.

Wedding at Springfield.

William Ashbrook and Miss Lillie Camp were married at 8 o'clock last evening in the Second M. E. church, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The Rev. George E. Scrimger, of Decatur, former pastor of the church, officiated. Frank T. Kuld, Will Wickersham, George Bullard and G. B. Thornberry acted as ushers. Mr. N. L. Allyn acted as groomsman and Miss Hugy as bridesmaid. The groom is employed at the rolling mill, and is an active member of the First M. E. church, and the bride is prominent in the church circles of the Second M. E. church. She has been employed at the watch factory. The happy couple will be at home to friends after Sept. 10th, at their residence, corner of First and Miller streets.—Springfield Register.

A New Banner.

The regular meeting of the Decatur lodge of Good Templars was held Tuesday evening, and on that occasion the lodge was presented by D. L. Bunn, on behalf of Mrs. B. F. Andrews, with a beautiful silk plush banner. It is embroidered with floral designs and the emblems of the order, and is very elaborate. It was given as a testimonial of regard for the work of the order for total abstinence and prohibition. A vote of thanks to the donor was unanimously passed, and the gratitude of the order expressed.

Street Car Matters.

The Lincoln Square network of wire got out of condition again yesterday and one of the blocks on the cross arm fell, causing the wire to drop on that of the Decatur company. All the cars on the line were instantly stopped, as was also the machinery at the power house. The repair force soon remedied the damage.

THE REVIEW has been asked several times why the Citizens company, now while running a late car to the depot for the midnight train, as it does, should not send one of the closed cars instead of one of the open summer cars. The reporter would like to ask that question himself. In this wet weather, when the wind is blowing cold, the open cars are intensely disagreeable. During the day it can easily be excused, because the company is short of cars, and must run the ones that it has. At night, however, it is different. That late car does not start from Lincoln Square until 11:30, and by that time at least one of the closed cars is off duty from the Water street line, and could just as well be sent to the depot for the one trip. As there is no good reason apparent why this should not be done, it probably will be done, and President Ferguson will receive many thanks from many people.

Congressman Simonds Complimented.

That famous patent lawyer, William E. Simonds, who defeated the witty Bob Vance at the polls in the Hartford district last fall, tells a pretty good story on himself. He has in his employ, as cook, an old colored woman who was formerly a slave. She is very religious, and is continually quoting things from the Scriptures. The old woman has a very excellent voice, and sings her old plantation songs in the inimitable darky way. One Sunday morning she was singing away while preparing breakfast, and Mrs. Simonds arose and opened their room door that they might hear her the better. When they went down to breakfast, Mrs. Simonds remarked:

"Aunty, my husband and myself have been enjoying your singing very much."

The old darky looked pleased, and saw an excellent opportunity of quoting Scripture, so she replied:

"Law, Missy, but I didn't know that I was castin' pearls befo' swine."—Minneapolis Tribune.

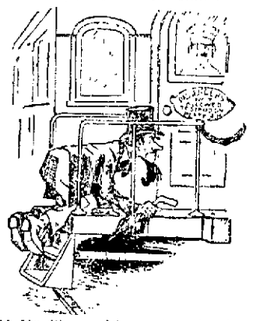

No Use for a Thermometer.

Anxious Mother—I wish, Susan, that when you give baby a bath you would be careful to ascertain whether the water is at the proper temperature.

Susan—Oh, don't you worry about that, ma'am; I don't need no 'rometers. If the little one turns red, the water is too hot; if it turns blue, it's too cold, and that's all there is about it.—Boston Commonwealth.

Complying with the Rules.

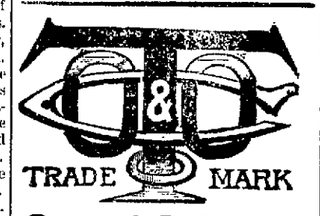

Old Mr. Pheets—It's a pesky unhandy way of gittin' on th' cars, but I s'pose them rules has got to be followed.—Judge.
